As of week's end, the cumulative positive testing rate was 3.1 percent of tests performed. This is lower than the national average of 11 percent. The decreasing rate of positive test results reflects the success of Oregonians in following the Governor's stay-at-home order, along with increasing testing statewide.

Notes:

- One case previously reported in Deschutes County was determined not to be a case; the county case count has been adjusted to reflect this.
